Canton, Ohio

Copyright, 1922, by the Canton League of Women Voters.

AND what shall we say of the WOMEN—of their instant intelligence, quickening every task that they touched; their capacity for organization and cooperation which gave their action discipline and enhanced the effectiveness of everything they attempted; their aptitude at tasks to which they have never before set their hands; their utter self-sacrifice alike in what they gave? Their contribution to the great result is beyond appraisal. They have added a new luster to the annals of American Womanhood.

The least tribute we can pay them is to make them the equals of men in political rights, as they have proved themselves their equals in every field of practical work they have entered, whether for themselves or for their country. These great details of competent achievements would be sadly marred were we to omit that act of justice. Besides the immense practical services they have rendered, the Women of the country have been moving spirits in the systematic economies by which our people have voluntarily assisted to supply the suffering peoples of the world and the armies of every front with food and everything that we had that would serve the common cause. The details of such a story can never be fully written but we can carry them at our hearts and thank God that we can say that we are kinsmen of such.

CHAS. KRICHBAUM

Candidate for

Common Pleas Judge

To the Canton League of Women Voters,
Canton, Ohio.

I am standing for the remainder of the unexpired term of Judge Hubert C. Pontius for Common Pleas Judge. The public owes me nothing. I owe my best, as does every man and woman, to the public weal.

It is not so important that I should be elected Judge as it is that the women of Stark County should maintain the spirit of the non-partisan ballot, as incorporated in the laws of the State of Ohio, in selecting a judiciary of the county.

Fidelity to this law has lately been urged by the American as well as the State Bar Association.

The success or failure of popular suffrage is now in the hands of such organizations as yours. The slow progress of civilization has kept step only with the gradual but sure emancipation of women.

You have now won your victory of equality with men. You can enable the judiciary to stand for a more discriminating justice. You can make it move with less halting step. You can temper its justice with a finer mercy.

The hope of the world for the creation of an enlightened public sentiment and social conscience is in your hands and you cannot afford to be slackers either in the primary or in the general election.

Very sincerely,

CHARLES KRICHBAUM.

Any qualified elector who finds that he will be unavoidably absent from his home precinct on the day of any election, may apply to the Clerk of the Board of Elections of his home county, either in writing or in person, not earlier than thirty days, and not later than three days, prior to the day of election, stating the fact of his unavoidable absence from his home precinct on the day of election, and making application, in writing, for absent voter's ballots. Upon receipt of such application and after the Clerk of the Board of Elections shall have satisfied himself that the elector, making application, is duly qualified to vote, he will either deliver, or send to such applicant by registered mail, the necessary ballots, supplies and instructions for voting as an absent elector.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERSS

Each county has three county commissioners. At the coming election but one commissioner is to be elected. The board of commissioners constitute in the main the administrative body of the county. This is largely a policy determining body. From the standpoint of the business and administration of the county's affairs, this board constitutes the most important board or office in the county. The policy of the business of the county, the appropriation and expenditure of money for the county depends largely upon this board and office. The office is primarily a business function. The issuing of bonds, the construction of roads, the erection of public buildings, the expenditure of money, the erection of bridges, the supervision of the workhouse, infirmary, children's home, detention home, all devolve upon the board of county commissioners.

JUDICIAL OFFICERS

Non-Partisan Election Ballot

SUPREME COURT

The supreme court of Ohio is made up of seven justices or judges—one chief and six associates. This court sits and meets at Columbus. It is the final court of review of the state. Most of the cases coming before it come on review from the lower courts. However, the court has original jurisdiction in certain cases, and, therefore, certain cases determined by this court are filed originally in it. While nominations may be made at the party primaries, each member is elected on the non-partisan ballot for a term of six years. Two associate justices are to be elected to this court at the coming election.

COURT OF APPEALS

This court in the main is a court of review and ranks next to the supreme court. The state is divided into districts and each district has a court of appeals. This district includes fourteen counties. Almost all the cases coming before this court come on review from the courts of common pleas of the district. This court, too, has original jurisdiction in certain matters, and, therefore, some of the cases heard by this court are filed originally in it. The term of members of this court is six years. The annual salary of the judges elected hereafter is approximately Eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($8,500.00.) One judge is to be elected at the coming election.

COMMON PLEAS COURT

Each county of the state constitutes a common pleas court division. Each common pleas judge of the county sits individually as the court. The number of common pleas judges varies in the different counties of the state, the number being determined by the legislature by legislative enactment. Stark county at present has three common pleas judges. The chief justice of the supreme court is authorized by law to assign common pleas judges of one county to another county, at the expense of the latter county, for the purpose of assisting in the judicial work of that county. The jurisdiction of this court is both original and appellate. The greater number of cases in this court are filed originally in it. However, a large number of cases come to it on appeal or on error from lower courts, such as probate court, municipal courts, police courts and justice of the peace courts. The common pleas court is ordinarily spoken of as a court of general jurisdiction and its work consists of the trying and hearing of criminal cases and civil cases, both law and equity. In this court questions of fact are ordinarily tried to a jury sitting with the judge in the trial. However, there are many cases tried in this court where the judge determines the facts as well as the law. The term of office for judges of this court is six years. The annual salary of judges hereafter elected in this county is approximately Sixty-five Hundred Dollars ($6,500). Two judges are to be elected at the coming election.

STATE OFFICERS

Partisan Election Ballot.

GOVERNOR.

The governor is the chief executive and administrative officer of the state, performing such duties as are ordinarily performed by chief executives of states. In addition to his executive duties he possesses the veto power and thus has a large part in the legislative work of the state. He also performs numerous less important duties. Under our state government, as now organized, the governor has opportunity to exert great power in connection with the state government, through the boards and officers he is authorized to appoint. He is elected for a term of two years, and is entitled to a salary of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) per year.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

The state has a lieutenant governor, whose duties and influence are of little consequence. He presides over the state senate while it is in session, and in the event the governor dies, or is incapacitated, he succeeds to the office of governor.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The duties of the attorney general in the main are to perform the law work of the state. He might more appropriately be called the attorney for the state. His term of office is two years.

He is elected for four years, other state officers for two years.

TREASURER OF STATE.

The treasurer of the state is custodian of the money of the state. He makes payments on warrants issued by the auditor in accordance with appropriations voted by the legislature and receives money paid into the state.

STATE SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES.

Stark and Carroll counties constitute a senatorial district and are entitled to one state senator. Stark county alone is entitled to three state representatives. TAX INFORMATION.

What Is a State Tax?

A state tax is a compulsory contribution of the state for its support and for services rendered to the citizens by the state.

What Is An Assessment?

An assessment is a special levy for local improvements.

What Kind of State Taxes Are There?

There are four kinds of state taxes; property, inheritance, franchise, and excise. There are other sources of revenue such as licenses and other fees, as for example, automobile license and fees for filing articles of incorporation.

What Is the State Property Tax?

The state property tax is a tax on personal property or chattels (jewels, furniture, live-stock, etc.), and on real estate (land and buildings).

What Is the Tax Duplicate?

The tax duplicate is the complete list of all taxable property in the county. It is a copy, or duplicate, of two lists in the County Auditor's office, one a list of returns by the citizens of all chattels owned by them, the other a list made by the County Auditor of persons and the real estate owned by them in the county. This duplicate is sent to the County Treasurer for collection.

How Is the Amount and Value of Taxable Personal Property Arrived At?

The amount and value of taxable personal property is arrived at through returns made by persons owning such property and, in case such persons fail to make returns, through returns secured by chattel assessors who are elected every two years.

How Is the Value of Taxable Real Estate Arrived At?

The value of taxable real estate is arrived at by the County Auditor who is by law the County Tax Assessor and who assesses or values all real estate, and sees that all real estate is on the duplicate at its real value. The County Auditor may have a re-appraisal of all real estate at any time subject to the approval of the County Commissioners.

Remember REAM for Recorder

He would bring to the office of County Recorder the same qualities which made him a successful business man for thirty years. He was born in Plain Township, Stark County, Ohio, and has been identified with the business interests of Canton for thirty-six years; has held the continued patronage and confidence of his customers during the entire twenty-eight years of his active business career.

Has been a tax payer for over thirty years.

And now feeling that his business experience and dealings with the public qualify him to receive your support, he respectfully solicits your vote and influence at the primaries on August 8, 1922.

At present I am employed with a corporation that has an excess of twenty thousand accounts, and believe my services have proven satisfactory.

How Are the Property Tax Rates Computed?

The property tax rates are computed by the County Auditor who divides the estimates presented by the County, City, Township, and School officials of the amounts necessary to run their respective divisions, as modified by the budget commission, by the amount of taxable property in the county. The Board of County Budget Commissioners goes over these figures transmitted by the Auditor and cuts them down in order that they may come within the limit of the Smith one per cent law. The Commissioners have no control over or power to reduce a tax levied by the General Assembly.

What Is the County Budget Commission?

The County Budget Commission is a Board consisting of the County Auditor, County Treasurer, and the County Prosecutor.

What Is the General Property Tax Rate?

The general property tax rate is a rate of not to exceed one per cent (plus one-half per cent additional which may be imposed to pay the principal and interest on certain bonds) on all property, real and chattel. This rate is limited by the Smith 1% Law passed in 1911.

Do Not Some Tax Rates Exceed the Limit Fixed by the Smith 1% Law?

Yes. These limits may be exceeded in certain cases of emergency and also by popular vote. There is also a special road levy of one-half mill made by act of the General Assembly which is in excess of any limitation. There are other special school levies which are in excess of any limitation.

What Is the General Property Tax Used For?

Tte general property tax of 1½% or 15 mills on each dollar is used as follows:

3.3 mills by the state (.5 mills for good roads and 2.8 mills for the common schools). This amount is levied by the state and is not subject to change by the Budget Commission.

11.7 mills is divided by the County Budget Commission between the county and the municipalities and schools of the county.

These questions and answers are taken from two lectures by Judge John R. Cassidy, January, 1921.

MARRIED WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

Again women have been pronounced to be people. The House of Representatives has passed the Cable bill, which makes the citizenship of a married woman a right, and not an accident of marriage. If the bill becomes a law no alien woman will be able to secure in one day what an alien man requires five years to secure, and no American woman will become an alien through a marriage ceremony.

"This legislation is a piece of political candy that is being given to the women," said one of the legislators who didn't like it. His term is objectionable, but when he says that "it is here primarily because the women want it," he told a well-known truth. The bill was endorsed by the League of Women Voters, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Association of University Women, the Council of Jewish Women, the W. C. T. U. and the National Women's Trade Union League, and well worked for. It is interesting that a similar bill has been placed before both the British House of Commons and the French Senate.—"The Woman Citizen."

DO YOU KNOW

That Ohio cities are paying, on an average, fifty cents out of every dollar collected in taxes for debt?

That twenty-six cities have special schools for sub-normal children? Do you know whether your city is one of them?

That for every thousand children in school there is one deaf child to be educated?

That initiative petitions are now being circulated proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Ohio limiting the power of counties, cities and school districts to borrow money?

That petitions are now being circulated proposing an amendment abolishing the "uniform rule" in taxation and placing limits on tax levies?

That every woman (and perhaps a few men) need to do some studying and some thinking before she goes to the primary on August 8th?

That there were 25,000 more children in the rural schools of Ohio during this school year than there would have been if the Bing law had not passed?

THE PRIMARY.

We cannot have good, efficient government without good, efficent men in office. We cannot elect good men unless we have good candidates to choose from. Under our Primary Election Law we cannot have good candidates unless we elect them at the Primaries. And so the conclusion of the whole matter is that we will have no right to complain about candidates next fall unless we have voted at the Primary on August 8th.

There is another important point: We women have never before had a chance to vote at state and county primaries. This is our first chance to show what sort of candidates we really want. And the sooner we begin to express our preferences the sooner we will really know what kind of persons make good government officials. We shall probably have a few disappointments before we find out.

Then there is a third point: The method of nominating candidates by a Primary Election is really on trial. It was devised by those who wanted more efficient government to take the place of the Party Convention system of nomination under which a few party leaders made the choice of candidates. It is an attempt to give the rank and file of voters in a party the right to choose their candidates. Has the Primary been a success? The only answer that can be given is that "it has never been tried." That is, it is usually true that only a small percentage of the voters take the trouble to vote at a primary. Those who have some special or selfish interest at stake do vote, and, of course, get the candidates they want. Naturally the criticism has been made that the Primary is no better than the convention method of nomination, that it costs a great deal, that it causes longer campaigns, and that we would better return to the convention method. There is great danger that our Primary Laws may be so amended as to lose what virtue they have. If we believe in government by the people we ought to do our part, by using the Primary, to prove its worth and to help find out what changes are needed to make it an efficient way of registering the choice of the people.—From The Ohio Woman Voter.

ASK YOUR CANDIDATE

BY MAUD WOOD PARK,
President of the National League of Woman Voters.

Women's political methods are making candidates candid; and from candid, in the modern sense, to candidus, with its ancient meaning, is not so far a journey that women need despair of inducing politicians to take it. The League of Women Voters' plan of asking the man who is running for office to define his position on public questions is beginning, and more than beginning, to show results.

Two years ago, the Ohio League adopted resolutions outlining the kind of speeches they wished to hear, the kind of campaign in which they wished to take part. It was no arrogant demand, no threat to intimidate a candidate. It was merely a notice to men who wish office that women voters do not care for empty eloquence nor for vituperation. They wish to be given to understand exactly what the man who speaks stands for and what his convictions on public questions are.

It is not too much to say that the woman voter wants to know what a side is more than she wants to hear what the other side is not; and objections to League questionnaires and mass-meeting expositions are without foundation. Any candidate is right to decline to answer trivial or impertinent questions from unauthorized persons, but no right-minded candidate can do anything but welcome the opportunity to put his beliefs before an audience made up of voters of both parties. No right-minded candidate can object to having his replies made public. League tactics are setting a new standard for campaign speeches and it is a high standard, a standard of courtesy, honesty, and candor.—From the Woman Citizen.

AN UNDERSTANDING MIND

The Ohio League of Women Voters is a live body with an active interest in all that pertains to good government. It has doubled its state membership within the past year, and doubled the number of its local organizations. Political education, as a necessity of good citizenship, is the fundamental aim of the league; and it will not be particularly careful to keep its educational efforts confined to women. There are still a few men who need political education, and whose citizenship would stand improvement.

At the outset, some very fervent advice was given to American women, from high quarters, against seeking any other than a regular party form of organization. The men's Republican and Democratic organizations, national, state and local, were all ready and waiting, and would be glad to take them right in. What real need could there be of anything else? Independent movements, they were earnestly told, could never accomplish anything. If they were to make their votes felt it must be through the regular channels of party organization.

But the women went ahead and formed their league, none the less. Of course large numbers of them are working as members of party organizations, and the two great parties have been very careful to see that they are represented on party committees, and that an increasing number of them get regular party nomination to important offices. Still, it is quite evident that their political energies are not to be wholly consumed on partisan agencies. Politicians of the older school may not like to see it that way, but in adopting the Nineteenth amendment the country has added enormously to the element which votes with slight regard to party shackles. The League of Women Voters will make for intelligent independence at the polls, not for party regularity, and the country will not suffer thereby. — Columbus Evening Dispatch.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR

PRIMARY, AUGUST 8, 1922

Alice Vignos, Chairman,
Canton League of Women Voters,
Canton, Ohio

Dear Madam:

We are grateful to you for giving us an opportunity to have some space in your booklet to present to the women of Ohio our claim that Honorable John J. Lentz, President of the American Insurance Union, of Columbus, Ohio, former Congressman, is highly deserving and fully qualified to receive the Democratic nomination for United States Senator on the 8th of August, 1922.

Mr. Lentz has often said in his many addresses in behalf of Woman Suffrage throughout this entire country, "I have never been able to find out where or when or how I got the right to take the vote away from my mother." He has often said, and still says, "I believe that the women will contribute greatly to the purity, honesty and efficiency of the government, and I have always advocated the right of women to vote, not alone because any one claiming the right for himself should be willing to accord it to another, but also because I think the men themselves and the children of the nation need the help of women in guiding this government. I am sure the women cannot make the government any worse than the men have made it in the past, and I am anxious and willing to take a chance and make the prediction that they will make it much better."

Mr. Lentz's many years of service and his generous contributions of time and money to abolish the saloon in Ohio and throughout the nation; his support of the graduated income tax and election of senators by the people; his efforts for free rural delivery of mail to the farmers; his fight for the one-cent pound rate for newspapers and magazines; his co-operation in promoting and incorporating the Boy Scout movement; his address in the Coliseum at Rome in behalf of "A Free Man, in a Free Nation, in a Free World," while visiting the American, British, French and Italian war fronts from January to May, 1918, as president of the American Insurance Union and a member of the Moose War Relief Commission; his book on "Thomas Jefferson, the Radical;" his well-known sympathy with the wage earner; his activity in behalf of fraternalism; his leadership, creative and constructive genius in organizing and developing an institution as great as the American Insurance Union, are all indications of the progressive, democratic spirit of the man.

It has been said that "we need less government in business and more business in government." If this be true, then surely Mr. Lentz, who is one of the most successful business men in Ohio, having founded and built one of the strongest financial institutions in the City of Columbus, is the man to send to Washington as Senator from Ohio.

Cordially yours,

JOHN J. LENTZ SENATORIAL COMMITTEE,

Harvey C. Smith

Candidate for Republican Nomination for

GOVERNOR

Judge Smith, as he is known by many of his friends, was two years ago re-elected to the office of Secretary of State by the largest majority ever accorded a candidate for state office in Ohio.

As Probate Judge for ten years of Muskingum Co., he has attracted state-wide attention, and it is upon this record that he is appealing to the women voters of the State. It was at this time also that Judge Smith began to see the woman's side, which made him a strong proponent of woman's suffrage throughout his political career.

As Secretary of State, he has built up that office to the point where it now has an income, from fees and license money from the Automobile Department of more than one million dollars a month. During his four years as Secretary of State Judge Harvey C. Smith has been on the job, has made a careful study of state affairs and no one is more familiar with all departments of State Government.

The record of Judge Harvey C. Smith is one justly worthy of all the praise given him by people in all walks of life and of diverse political faiths from every corner of the State. Judge Harvey C. Smith, the People's Candidate, seeks your vote in the coming election by reason of his past achievements, and in support of the following platform:

Selection of honest and able assistants; service to all the people; obedience to, and strict enforcement of all laws; a safe financial policy that will provide sound business prosperity; economical expenditures; an intelligent, simplified taxation system that will encourage rather than hinder business activities; prohibition of tax exemptions; no property should escape a reasonable proportion of taxation; greater returns from expenditures; policies that bring success in private affairs should be adopted in all public enterprises; a practical system of education; a prosperous agriculture; economical construction and maintenance of highways; rural districts must have relief. Farmers must be gotten out of the mud; more efficient and direct marketing systems.

JUDGE SCHABER

Seeks Democratic Nomination for Secretary of State

Judge Chas. F. Schaber, of Bucyrus, O., served as Commissioner of Securities under the State of Ohio, and has annuonced his candidacy for Democratic nomination for Secretary of State.

As Commissioner of Securities Judge Schaber achieved success in office, which has been favorably commented upon by men of affairs in this and other states. He made recommendations for the improvement of the laws governing the sale of securities in this state, which, by students of economic and financial legislation, were termed of a sound and beneficial character, and was given considerable favorable comment by newspapers of the state as well as other states. As a result, his opinion on matters of this character has been widely sought.

In 1898 Mr. Schaber served in the Spanish-American War as a member of the Eighth Ohio Volunteer Regiment of Infantry, and participated in the Santiago, Cuba, campaign.

For seven years Judge Schaber presided as Judge of the Juvenile Court of his county. In that work he won the commendation of all in his labors for the welfare of wayward and dependent children. Appreciation of his work on behalf of the schools of Ohio was publicly extended to him by the then State Commissioner of Common Schools, in which he speaks very highly of his rigid enforcement of the law and the fame of his court, expressing his belief that, if the laws on the statute books were enforced as in this court, moral reformation would be wrought all over the state. Judge Schaber is a Progressive, and if elected to the office he seeks will assume Progressive Policies.

"In fact, he comes of a family of attorneys, his great-great-grandfather, John Seney, of Maryland, being a member of that profession. His great-grandfather, Joshua Seney, was one of Maryland's early Chief Justices. Mr. Williams has never held any public office, although for years he has been closely identified with the Democratic party in Hamilton County. In civic organizations in Cincinnati he has taken an active part as president of the Hyde Park Business Men's Club. T. D. PRICE

New Lexington, O.

For Judge of The Supreme Court

Democratic Primary Aug. 8th.

Born—Pomeroy, O., '72—Law O. S. U., '99. Admitted to Ohio Supreme Court and U. S. Dist. Court '99. Member of Ohio and American Bar Associations. Cons't. Con. '12. Common Pleas Judge since 1914. Disposed of 1531 cases in Perry Co. without reversal.

Held Court by designation in Belmont, Monroe, Washington. Muskingum, Fairfield, Meigs, Huron and Cuyahoga.

"SIGNERS" TO PETITION OF JUDGE PRICE.

Judge Maurice H. Donahue, Circuit Court of Appeals of U. S., Columbus, O.; W. A. Hite, Thornville, Ohio; Mell G. Underwood, New Lexington, Ohio; R. G. Dailey, New Lexington, Ohio; J. E. Powell, New Lexington, Ohio; Samuel Ichenbaum, Corning, Ohio; Judge Lewis B. Houck, Circuit Court of Appeals of Ohio, Mt. Vernon, O.; Hon. Lawrence Maxwell, Cincinnati, Ohio; Matt Excell, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Bernice Pyke, Dem. National Committee Woman, Lakeside, Ohio; Mrs. Gertrude Foran Handrick, Atty. at Law, Cleveland, Ohio; Hon. Henry Booth, Columbus, Ohio; Hon. George B. Okey, Columbus, Ohio; D. N. Postlewaite, Columbus, Ohio; Dean Throckmorton, Columbus, Ohio.

In the Constitutional Convention Judge T. D. Price served on four important committees. All measures supported by him in the Constitutional Convention were ratified by the people at the polls except the bonding of the State for good roads, and the proposal to permit women to be at the head of Institutions where women and children were cared for, which proposal was drafted by Judge Price on the sub-committee of the Legislative and Executive Committee. Two years later this proposal was again submitted to the people by reason of irregularities in the Girls' Industrial School at Delaware, and was overwhelmingly adopted.

Judge Price voted against and bitterly opposed the submission of the proposal to adopt the Torrens System of Land Titles in Ohio, which was adopted by the people and has long since fallen into disuse because of its own unworkability and the absence of any necessity for it.
